NOTE: the birth year and place of the husband listed is NOT the same as is known for David Reddick, brother of William; this individual is listed as born in Kentucky about 1815. The given name and birth year of the wife is NOT the same as is known for Lucy M. [Maxwell] Reddick, sister-in-law to William Reddick. However, this couple was very likely that brother (and his wife) of William Reddick, wealthy resident of Ottawa, Illinois, at this time. The reasons for accepting this record as one for the David and Lucy Reddick family is as follows:

- the given name and surname of the husband are the same as that known for William's brother, David
- the occupation of the husband matches that known for William's brother, David
- the residence of the couple is in the same city as the residence known to have been occupied by Andrew J. Reddick, son of David and Lucy
- the birth state for this wife is the same as that known for Lucy H. (Maxwell) Reddick

David Reddick, brother of the late Hon. Wm. Reddick, and father of A. J. Reddick, of La Salle, died on Sunday morning last, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Green, in Herman, Knox county, at the age of 77 years. The funeral took place at La Salle on Tuesday, under the auspices of the Masons.

democratic party he was a recognised power in the state. As soon as his death was announced, flags were displayed at half-mast on the court house, banks, Clifton house and other buildings.

The deceased was born in Ballynahinch, county Down, Ireland, Oct. 31, 1812, and came to America in 1816. After living in New Jersey a short time he, with his parents went to Zanesville, O., where in 1821 his father, James Reddick, died. In 1825 William went to Wheeling, and in Wellsburg, W. Va., in the same year, learned to blow hollowware. In 1827 he emigrated to Brownsville, Pa., learned the window glass trade, and in 1830 married Miss Eliza Jane Collins, of that city, who died July 5, 1883. In 1832 Mr. and Mrs. Reddick went to Washington, D.C., where he blew glass two years and saved $1,000 the first money of any amount he ever, had. In 1834 he went back to Brownsville, and in the spring of 1835 landed in Ottawa, or in the vicinity of that city. In 1838 he was elected sheriff of LaSalle county and he held the office until 1846. He was state land appraiser and county collector at that time. He was state senator from 1847 to 1851 and in 1870 was again re-elected senator for two years. At the time of his death he was one of the trustees of the Kankakee insane asylum. He was a member of the board of supervisors for years, and in 1870, when a senator, introduced and had passed what is known as the Reddick temperance law. By his will he bequeathes his fine residence, valued at $60,000, to the city of Ottawa for a public library building. He also bequeathes to the city about $125,000 in money stocks and bonds as a fund for the support of the library, and gives to the county one hundred acres of land adjoining the county farm valued at [sic]$11,00. There were also other bequests. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wm. Reddick

Mrs. Wm. Reddick died at her home in this city on last Thursday evening at nine o'clock, after a long illness. For several years past she had been troubled with a dropsical affection of the heart, and during the last year of her life had been confined to her home. Her sufferings were very great and unceasing.

Mrs. Reddick was born in Pennsylvania in 1811, her maiden name being Eliza Collins. She was married to Mr. Reddick about 50 years ago. She came to La Salle county about 1837. Her surviving relatives are her sister, Mrs. N. Auld, of Vinton, Iowa, (who has been here since Tuesday) and her niece Nellie Auld and nephews O. P. Auld, all of Vinton, and J. J. Auld, of Rutland, Ia., all of whom are in the city.

Mrs. Reddick, though not a "noted member of society," was a woman of the warmest charitable instincts, and had been since girlhood, but though her charities were unceasing and effective, few knew of them save the recipients, and there is many a family in Ottawa who will find a faithful friend and loved benefactor gone.

She was in many respects a rare woman. In all Mr. Reddick's business and political enterprises she took, naturally, a deep interest; but more than that she assisted as few women can with hand and head and to her aid and counsel is due much of her husband's great success both in business and political life. She made no great "stir;" the newspapers had little to say of her coming and going, but through all her life she lived an earnest Christian woman, whose influence was always for good - one of those women of whom it may be said that the world is better because she lived in it; and whose death will be mourned as that of a benefactor gone forever.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at 3 o'clock P.M., from her late residence, Rev. G. S. Young officiating.

The funeral of Mrs. Wm. Reddick took place on Sunday last from her late residence. It was probably the largest ever seen in Ottawa, testifying the great regard in which the deceased was held by all classes of our people. The casket was literally buried in flowers, [sic] gifts of sorrowing friends, some of them of exquisite design and beauty. The house and grounds were filled with friends, more than a thousand people being present. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Young, just as she herself had directed before her death. Rev. M. K. Whittlesey also took part in the services. The pall bearers were Hon. G. W. Armstrong, Sheriff Milligan, J. G. Nattinger, E. Y. Griggs, J. F. Nash, H. W. S. Rigden, W. W. Harden and J. A. Shuler. An unusually long procession of carriages followed the body to the cemetery, where some 500 people had gathered to witness the last sad rites.

JOHN FUNK. [partial transcription follows, with personal observation]

"Francis J. Funk married Esther Morton, a native of Massachusetts, and two children were born of their union. Eliza, their daughter, was reared in the family of a Mr. Reddick, by whose surname she was called."

PERSONAL OBSERVATION: Francis J. Funk was apparently married three times: (1) Elizabeth Burger; (2) Esther Morton; and (3) Mary Strockbien. Various items and official documents seem to indicate that Francis J. Funk only had children resulted from his marriage to the first wife. Among those children were Margaret (Funk) Mohr [sicMoore], Elizabeth Burrier Funk, and John Funk, husband of Mary A. Rich. For a transcription of the Last Will and testament of Francis J. Funk, see either his notes or media sources.

died at the family mansion, in this city, on Tuesday, 22, aged 46 years, 4 months and 12 days, of catarrhal consumption, together with a chronic affection of the throat, which had troubled her for over twenty years. She was born in Cobleniz, Prussia, and was brought to this country by her parents when she was two years old. They lived near the Fox River House, where her mother died when she was less than three years old. Mrs. Reddick, who was of a charitable disposition, heard of the little girl's bereaved condition and took her home. The childless couple soon learned to love the little one and adopted her as their own. They gave her all the loving care that parents could have bestowed upon their own offspring, and in return her love went out to them in the fullest of childish trust and reverence, which, as she grew up ripened into the respect and devotion of a daughter to her parents. The death of Mrs. Reddick affected her deeply, and the crowning weight of her misery was the loss of Mr. Reddick, since which time she has been [sic]appressed with a load of unspeakable sorrow. This was greatly increased by the worriment of a law suit which threatened not only to have turned her out of the home of her whole life, but in effect to declare her nothing to her adopted parents. SHE thought the suit if decided against the will by which her adopted father gave her a home for life, would in effect pronounce her a trespasser, a sponger of bounties she had no right to enjoy. That these reflections hastened, if they did not cause her death, is certain.

Her remains were interred in the Reddick cemetery lot in West Ottawa, Thursday, after appropriate funeral services at the house.

Her father died a year ago. She is sup[posed] to have made no will. Her property will in that case go to her brother, John Funk, a farmer living near Streator. He is a man of moderate circumstances and has a large family of young children, and in every way is worthy of the help her effects will be to him and the children.

A. J. Reddick Dies

Andrew J. Reddick died at his home in La Salle, on Sunday morning of consumption; aged forty-three years.

He was born in Bedford, New Jersey, on Nov. 6, 1845, and was the son of David Reddick, who survives him [NOTE: David Reddick actually died in 1888]. He went to the printer's trade in the office of the Genius of Liberty, at Uniontown, Pa. ... and when the [Civil War] broke out ran away from home to enter the army, enlisting in the 107th Penn. Vols., with whom he served until mustered out at the close of hostilities. From 1866 to 1876 he was employed as type-setter in Chicago, La Salle and in this city, and then with the aid and advice of friends in La Salle purchased the La Salle Independent and founded the La Salle Democrat. After having been burned out in 1883, he purchased the Press, consolidating it with the Democrat, under its present name of The Democrat Press.

In 1873, he married Miss Emily J. Coulter, who, with two daughters, Edith and Bessie, survive him. He was devoted to his family and was a prominent figure in La Salle society and politics. ...

His illness dates back to the loss of his son Eddie, who was drowned.... The funeral took place on Tuesday....

... [With The Democrat Press] he adopted from the first a policy of sensationalism; particularly in reference to the exposure of the alleged sexual sins of prominent people, which gave his paper a wide notoriety.... After the death of his son, however, this feature entirely disappeared from his paper, which thereafter was able, clean, newsy, entirely unobjectionable. ... His policy was La Salle first, the rest of the world second.... One of his most notable traits was his love for his family, - a virtue that covers a multitude of sins....

Generation 3 (con't)

Among the well-known farmers of Otter Creek township, LaSalle county, is Robert Birtwell, a veteran of the civil war and a man highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was born in Lancashire, England, February 11, 1839, the son of John and Mary (Taylor) Birtwell. The parents came to America when their son Robert was very small, and for some years lived at Hudson, New York. In 1849 they moved out to Illinois and settled on a farm in LaSalle county, where John Birtwell is still living. His wife died April 14, 1865. She was a member of the Church of England, to which he also belongs, and in that faith they reared their children. The five children born to them were named as follows: Ellen; Robert, the subject of this sketch; Sarah, widow of Evan Brick; James, of Allen township, LaSalle county; and Permelia, the wife of W. Porter Donnell, of Kearney, Nebraska.

Robert Birtwell was reared on his father's farm, acquired his education in the public schools, and as he was the eldest son he always found plenty of work at home to occupy his time when he was not in school. During the civil war, in August, 1862, he enlisted in Company F, One Hundred and Fourth Illinois Volunteer Infantry, under Captain J. J. McKennan, and took part in the battles of Hartville, Missionary Ridge and Arlington Heights, and at the close of the war participated in the Grand Review at Washington, D. C. At Camp Douglas he received an honorable discharge and from there returned home, and since the war has been actively engaged in the occupation in which he was reared. He owns a valuable farm of three hundred and twenty acres on section 6, Otter Creek township, which has a good residence and other buildings thereon and which is highly cultivated.

Mr. Birtwell was married in 1878 to Miss Mary Reddick, daughter of William Reddick [PERSONAL NOTE: James Reddick, brother of William, was the father of Mary Reddick], a prominent citizen of this county. Mr. Reddick was born in New Jersey, reared and educated in Washington, D. C., and has for a number of years been identified with LaSalle county. Mr. and Mrs. Birtwell have an only child, Frank R., born March 19, 1880.

Like his father before him, the subject of our sketch is a Republican, and although he has never aspired to office he takes an active interest in the issues of that party. He is a wide-awake, practical and enterprising farmer, who is meeting with good success as the result of his capable management of his business affairs.

Robert T. Birtwell and Mary G. Reddick were married on 24 Dec 1878 in Streator, La Salle, Illinois, USA<sup>[201, 202]</sup>. They had the following children:

WILLIAM S. REDDICK.

This gentleman is one of the popular citizens and successful farmers of Otter Creek township, LaSalle county, Illinois, and also belongs to that class of brave men whose ranks are each year being thinned,-the veterans of the civil war.

William S. Reddick was born in Washington, D. C., in 1841, and is of Irish descent. . His father, James Reddick, was born on the Emerald Isle, son of William Reddick, and when a lad of six years accompanied his parents to America. In this country he grew up, and here married Miss Margaret Wise, who was born and reared in Georgetown, across the river from Washington, D. C. They made their home in the east until 1858, when the family came west to Illinois and settled in LaSalle county, north of Ottawa. On his father's farm William S. was early taught lessons of industry and economy, and soon after he came to this state he engaged in farming on his own account, an occupation in which he has since been engaged, his location being in Otter Creek township.

At the age of twenty-eight Mr. Reddick married Miss Matilda Wakey, who was born near South Ottawa and who is the daughter of William Wakey, an early settler of LaSalle county. Mr. and Mrs. Reddick have six children, viz.: Lulu Weber, a successful music teacher; Maggie, wife of James Armstrong, of Streator, Illinois; Birdie, wife of Charles Gerry, of Otter Creek township; Mamie, at home; William Clifford, of Streator; and James, who married Miss Carrie L. Baker, daughter of Christian Baker. The Reddick family attend worship in the Methodist Episcopal church, and politically Mr. Reddick is a Democrat.
